1. Enter author names, book titles, journal titles, article titles, research topics, etc. into the search box.

2. Discovery will simultaneously search through the Libraries' collections and most of its subscription databases to find relevant results. Online full-text will be available for many of the items.

3. Discovery provides several ways to narrow and broaden search results (e.g., material type, date, subject).

4. Results can include:
   - archival materials
   - books
   - book chapters
   - conference proceedings
   - images
   - media
   - peer-reviewed articles
   - periodicals
   - reports
   - scholarly journals
   - and more
